

Brilliant Game Changing Books

by Felicity Carter

Iran Modern by Viola Raikhel-Bolot and Miranda Darling ASSOULINE

She empowered a generation of young Iranian artists, visited the studios of artists like Henry Moore and Chagall, and commissioned works directly from a young Andy Warhol, who paid visit to the Royal Palace, in the name of establishing her country as a cultural vanguard. In the late 70s, the unimaginable happened, and the Iran that emerged after the Revolution changed everything. Iran Modern: The Empress of Art reveals the colorful story of Farah Pahlavi's amazing journey from Empress to exile and throws light onto the impressive collection of contemporary art she left behind.
